... Gets on this ... and begins a search for a mysterious object, the history of which lies with a girl called Koh. She's not the only one who remembers it and after the earthquake, a powerful creature is brought into being. ... It's no other than the aforementioned kid, whose coming of age is the cause of this disaster, and so, he'll be on a mission to restore the ruined planet. ... He will also encounter its creator, who is also its owner. A man whose entire life has been designed as a test for the boy to ensure he is the one who will inherit the 'Earth Record', an ancient object filled with all the secret of the world. Add to that, the fact that the kid has received this job from someone called 'Oddball', and you have a pretty interesting premise for a production. The only question remains is whether this anime will actually live up to it. Well, it does, and it takes a lot to live up to it, but it succeeds as one of the most unique and interesting anime I've seen in a long time. Kanji, of course, is the main character. He's the god of music. And boy, does he live up to it! His over the top, manic personality is just the icing on the cake. He makes up and changes songs that he's composed at whim, at no point will he just follow the rules. It can be a bit of an irritation, but it just adds to the entertainment value. He also meets a girl by the name of Koh, a bit of a smutty character, and finds out that she holds the secret to the entire world. The plot is pretty simple. Kanji has survived the earthquake, and finds his antique store in tatters, so he decides to go into the city to find a band to perform for him. As luck would have it, he happens to stumble upon a girl who runs an antique shop. And who do you think she is, but the owner of the Earth Record, an object which has been completely shut away from the rest of the world, she wants to restore. It is up to Kanji to restore it to its former glory. This anime is full of little details. 82157476af
